

Holy Trinity Episcopal School opened its doors ten years ago. The School offers a high quality college-preparatory curriculum to 180 students in grades PreK-3 through the eleventh grade. We are a young school with no endowment. In order to supplement the year's operating costs and financial aid program, the School conducts an annual Gala. Held at La Colombe d'Or, the 2010 Gala (Auction) A Titan Evening in Paris will occur on Saturday, February 27, 2009.

Holy Trinity Episcopal School prides itself in serving students from ten school districts. Through a rich offering of academic excellence, spiritual development, and social responsibility, the School provides an opportunity for each student to reach his or her maximum spiritual, intellectual, social, and ethical potential. The school develops a well-rounded student body ready to take on the challenges of college life and the years after. Operating as a Christian community within the beliefs and traditions of the Episcopal Church, our philosophy of education is based on recognizing each child as a unique creation of God, committing to discover, nurture, and develop each child's individual gifts, while guiding the child toward the maturity necessary to manage his or her own learning, and actively seeking a diverse student body that welcomes children of all races, cultural backgrounds, and religious faiths.

Your consideration in donating a contribution or placing an ad is extremely appreciated. The support of community businesses is vital to the success of the silent and live auctions at the Gala, as well as the overall Gala proceeds. Your business will be listed in all Gala and our 2009-10 annual report.

Attached is a donor form. Should you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact Gala Liaison Reba Kingsbury at the School office. Thank you in advance for your donation to the School and for your support of this very successful event.

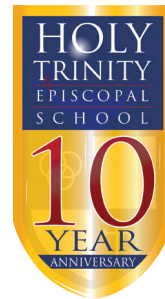

Sincerely,

Auction Parent Volunteer
